Von HILDBURG BRUNS

Berlin – Die Pflicht zum Masketragen kommt nach sieben Monaten wieder stärker in den Alltag der Berliner zurück! Ab wann genau entscheidet heute der Senat.

Gesundheitssenatorin Ulrike Gote (56, Grüne) drängelt wegen der steigenden Corona-Fälle in Kliniken – bei Patienten und Personal. Ihren neuen Bußgeldkatalog hat sie bereits fertig – er liegt B.Z. exklusiv vor (siehe Liste links).

Über die genaue Höhe entscheidet innerhalb dieser Spanne die jeweils entstandene Gefahr, die Einsicht des Täters, ob es ein Wiederholungsfall ist und daraus ein wirtschaftlicher Vorteil entsteht.

► Wo gilt die geplante neue Maskenpflicht?

Zunächst in bestimmten öffentlichen Innenräumen: in Geschäften, Universitäten (außer bei Prüfungen), Volkshochschulen, Musikschulen, Museen, Gedenkstätten, Bibliotheken, bei Stadtrundfahrten und Schiffsausflügen – und wie seit Langem in Bussen und Bahnen.

► Ausnahmen? Kinder unter 6 Jahren, Schwerhörige.

► Ab wann stellt der Senat diese neue Corona-Verordnung scharf?

Heute werden zunächst nach Experten von Charité und Vivantes angehört. Seit der Ministerpräsidentenkonferenz am vergangenen Donnerstag ist klar, dass kein anderes Bundesland jetzt schon wieder eine Maskenpflicht ausweiten will.

Auch Brandenburg nicht. Berlins Regierende Franziska Giffey (44, SPD) ist im aktuellen Stadium der Pandemie einer Verschärfung der Verordnung gegenüber skeptisch. Denn viele Berliner sind mehrfach geimpft. Zudem verlangt Giffey von der grünen Gesundheitssenatorin mehr Zahlen, Daten, Fakten.

Grünen-Politikerin Gote verweist darauf, dass es wegen der Personalnot in den Kliniken insgesamt nur noch 1000 Intensivbetten gibt (2020: 1400). Bis Anfang November wird eine Zunahme auf 85 Corona-Patienten in Intensivbetten erwartet.

Solche medizinischen Masken müssen demnächst auch wieder in belebten Innenräumen getragen werden. Offen ist, ab wann

Die aktuellen Corona-Zahlen

"More harm than good": countries for the end of partial vaccination

In a letter to Federal Minister Lauterbach, Bavaria, Saxony and Thuringia are calling for an end to compulsory vaccination in the healthcare sector. The "completely outdated measure" puts a strain on the facilities, warns Bavaria's Health Minister Holetschek.

Cross-party appeal from the states: Bavaria's Health Minister Klaus Holetschek (CSU), and his counterparts from Saxony and Thuringia, Petra Köpping (SPD) and Heike Werner (Left), are campaigning for the phasing out of compulsory vaccinations for healthcare workers . In a joint letter to Federal Health Minister Karl Lauterbach (SPD), they warn of the consequences of extending the regulation.

According to Holetschek, the facility-related compulsory vaccination does more harm than good. The CSU politician emphasized: "We need every available worker in medicine, care and integration assistance. We cannot allow ourselves to continue to strain this area with a measure that is now completely outdated by having urgently needed specialist staff, but also trainees in other professions or displace to neighboring countries."

What you said

After a day of voting, each question has received more than 42,000 responses, ranging up to more than 50,000.

The results are striking.

More than half of respondents either said they regret getting vaccinated, or were unvaccinated and happy with their decision.

Only 35 per cent out of more than 45,000 people said they were vaccinated and would make the same decision again.

Not a single person said they were unvaccinated and regret the decision.

One fifth of respondents said they had received two doses of a vaccine, 26 per cent had three and 16 per cent had four shots, while 37 per cent said they had not taken any vaccine.

According to Health Department data, more than 20 million Australians have received at least one dose of a Covid vaccine, or more than 95 per cent of the over-16 population.

An overwhelming majority of respondents said they were no longer concerned about Covid and no longer wore masks in public settings.

10,000 euros: Meloni wants to increase the upper limit for cash payments

Germany | October 27, 2022 | JF-Online | 1 comment

ROME. The new Italian Prime Minister Giorgia Meloni (Fratelli d'Italia) wants to raise the upper limit for cash payments from 2,000 to 10,000 euros. On Wednesday evening, the head of government said in a speech before the vote of confidence in the Senate that her cabinet would support the plans of coalition partner Lega.

Meloni contradicted the argument that a higher cash limit would encourage tax evasion and black money payments. Even in countries like Austria and Germany there is no limit for cash payments.

ROME. In her first speech as head of government in front of parliament, the new Italian Prime Minister Giorgia Meloni announced a radical change in her country's refugee policy.

The leader of the right-wing party Fratelli d'Italia stressed that she wanted to prevent the arrival of boat migrants. "This government wants to go down a path that has hardly been explored until now: stopping illegal departures and finally breaking up the illegal human trafficking in the Mediterranean," she said.

Indirectly, she indicated that she wanted to block the migrant boats: "If you don't want me to talk about ship blockades, I'll say it like that," Meloni said, referring to her words about stopping illegal departures. The new government also wants to set up centers in the "hotspot areas" in coordination with the authorities of the North African countries, where international organizations will check whether people have a right to asylum, she continued.

In a bold and unprecedented call, the director general of the World Health Organization encourages countries to reorient and rebalance their health systems. Here are five ways we can get behind the inspiring, timely, and daunting task to create healthy societies

At the opening of the World Health Summit last weekend, Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, director general of the World Health Organization, outlined three priorities for taking global health to a new level: a new global accord to better prepare and respond to epidemics and pandemics; a new architecture; and a new global approach “that prioritises promoting health and preventing disease, rather than only treating the sick.” In relation to the third priority, Tedros called on all countries to make the needed “paradigm shift ... recognising that health starts not in hospital and clinics, but in homes, streets, schools, and workplaces.”¹

THESE PROPOSALS ARE CURRENTLY BEING KEPT SECRET

These documents (proposed amendments to the IHR) are currently NOT publicly available. (If you uncover these documents, please share them with me A.S.A.P.) The proposals were to have been submitted by September 30, 2022. Then they were to have been shared with all 194 member nations A.S.A.P.

It appears that NO public comment is planned.

The newly formed International Health Regulations Review Committee is meeting "privately" this week to discuss proposed amendments to the IHR.

YOU and I were not invited.

The WHO has recently created a VERY CONTROVERSIAL "IHR Review Committee" to PRIVATELY deal with these potentially disparate submissions. It is feared that this is an attempt to hijack the negotiation process. By definition, the Review Committee meetings are "private."

For those who have eyes to see, and are able to read between the lines, I believe that the recent actions taken by the WHO (and documented below) are highly inappropriate and potentially incendiary.

Covid-Lockdowns waren illegaal – Madrid betaalt boetes terug aan inwoners

Door DissidentNL - 2022-10-23 1444 1

De Spaanse stad Madrid wordt gedwongen om de 1,7 miljoen euro aan boetes terug te betalen die zijn uitgedeeld aan inwoners tijdens de Spaanse lockdown in de beginfase van de covid-pandemie.

In juli 2021 werden de maatregelen die aan het begin van de "noodtoestand" werden genomen tijdens de covid-uitbraak in Madrid door het Spaanse Grondwettelijk Hof onwettig verklaard. Dit omvat beperkingen zoals het dwingen van bewoners om tijdens een zogenaamde "lockdown" thuis te blijven.

Tegemoetkoming ondernemers bij fors omzetverlies door hoogwater

Limburgse en Brabantse ondernemers die door het hoogwater in de zomer van vorig jaar fors omzetverlies hebben geleden, kunnen een beroep doen op een speciale tegemoetkomingsregeling. De getroffen ondernemers kunnen hiervoor een aanvraag indienen t/m 5 december 2022. De regeling geldt voor omzetverlies in het 3e en 4e kwartaal van 2021 en het 1e kwartaal van 2022. Het Rijk heeft aan de Provincie Limburg een specifieke uitkering van 24 miljoen euro toegekend om deze tegemoetkoming te kunnen realiseren.

Het meldingsformulier staat op de website van de Rijksdienst voor Ondernemend Nederland (www.rvo.nl).

Victory! Judge Strikes Down Vax Mandate for ALL City Employees in NYC [VIDEO]

"The city's vaccine mandate is unconstitutional, violates the separation of powers ... arbitrary and capricious."

BY VIGILANT FOX
OCTOBER 24, 2022

CONCLUSION

It is clear that the Health Commissioner has the authority to issue public health mandates. No one is refuting that authority. However, the Health Commissioner cannot create a new condition of employment for City employees. The Health Commissioner cannot prohibit an employee from reporting to work. The Health Commissioner cannot terminate employees. The Mayor cannot exempt certain employees from these orders. Executive Order No. 62 renders all of these vaccine mandates arbitrary and capricious.

Being vaccinated does not prevent an individual from contracting or transmitting Covid-19. As of the day of this Decision, CDC guidelines regarding quarantine and isolation are the same for vaccinated and unvaccinated individuals. The Petitioners should not have been terminated for Payouts from a government program set up for Australians who suffered adverse reactions to Covid-19 vaccines have been described as “absolutely pitiful” by experts.

New figures reveal less than 2 per cent of the thousands of Australians who applied for compensation have had their claim approved.

The Covid-19 Vaccine Claim Scheme was set up in December 2021 to compensate people who suffered moderate to significant adverse reactions to an approved Covid-19 vaccine.

But out of the 2,987 people to apply for compensation, only 59 were successful.

A total of $3.8 million has been paid out under the scheme.

But top minds in personal injury law believe the process causes unnecessary headaches for applicants.

A Services Australia spokesman told news.com.au that the assessment process was “complex”, with some claims needing independent review by “medical and other appropriately qualified experts”.

Key point:

If vaccination is a non-event, all the numbers in this column should be roughly the same since death is a random event.

Methods

We carried out a target trial design for first/second doses of ChAdOx1(Oxford–AstraZeneca) and BNT162b2 (Pfizer–BioNTech) with a composite outcome of COVID-19 hospitalization or death over the period 8 December 2020 to 30 June 2021. Exposure groups were matched by age, local authority area and propensity for vaccination. We pooled event counts across the four UK nations.

Results

For Doses 1 and 2 of ChAdOx1 and Dose 1 of BNT162b2, VE/rVE reached zero by approximately Days 60–80 and then went negative. By Day 70, VE/rVE was –25% (95% CI: –80 to 14) and 10% (95% CI: –32 to 39) for Doses 1 and 2 of ChAdOx1, respectively, and 42% (95% CI: 9 to 64) and 53% (95% CI: 26 to 70) for Doses 1 and 2 of BNT162b2, respectively. rVE for Dose 2 of BNT162b2 remained above zero throughout and reached 46% (95% CI: 13 to 67) after 98 days of follow-up.

Conclusions

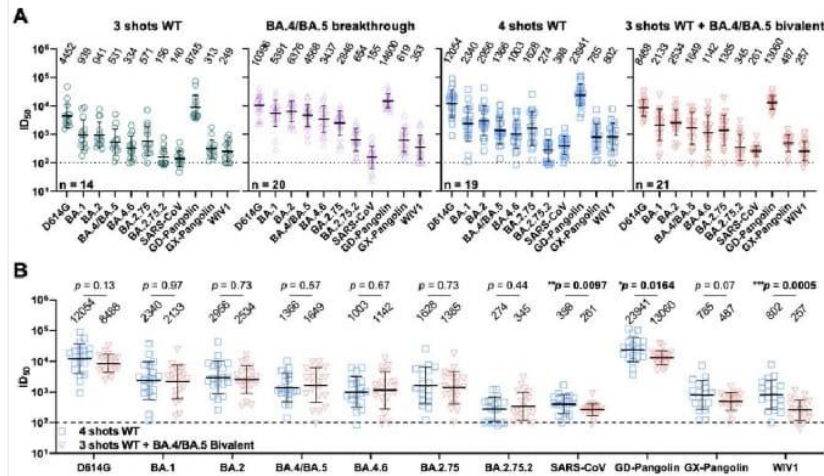

We found strong evidence of waning in VE/rVE for Doses 1 and 2 of ChAdOx1, as well as Dose 1 of BNT162b2. This evidence may be used to inform policies on timings of additional doses of vaccine.

vaccine against all SARS-CoV-2 variants tested, including BA.4/BA.5. Those who received a fourth monovalent vaccine dose had a slightly higher neutralizing antibody titers than those who received the bivalent vaccine against three related sarbecoviruses: SARS-CoV, GD-Pangolin, and WIV1. When given as a fourth dose, a bivalent mRNA vaccine targeting Omicron BA.4/BA.5 and an ancestral SARS-CoV-2 strain did not induce superior neutralizing antibody responses in humans, at the time period tested, compared to the original monovalent vaccine formulation.

Safety of pandemic H1N1 vaccines in children and adolescents

Miriam Sturkenboom

2011, Vaccine

Abstract

During the 2009 influenza A (H1N1) pandemic several pandemic H1N1 vaccines were licensed using fast track procedures, with relatively limited data on the safety in children and adolescents. Different extensive safety monitoring efforts were put in place to ensure timely detection of adverse events following immunization. These combined efforts have generated large amounts of data on the safety of the different pandemic H1N1 vaccines, also in children and adolescents. In this overview we shortly summarize the safety experience with seasonal influenza vaccines as a background and focus on the clinical and post marketing safety data of the pandemic H1N1 vaccines in children. We identified 25 different clinical studies including 10,505 children and adolescents, both healthy and with underlying medical conditions, between the ages of 6 months and 23 years. In addition, large monitoring efforts have resulted in large amounts of data, with...
